W orkforce systems have traditionally been focused on training for 'in-demand' projections rather than the right career compatibility, leaving jobseekers trained for occupations for which they are ill-suited. The result is predictable, and everyone loses. Jobtimize® brings depth and breadth to workforce training and economic development systems, by shining a light on what jobseekers and employers really need to succeed. This career platform helps jobseekers understand their real job fit in the workforce and provides employers with the opportunity to find candidates who truly fit with the role and company culture. This improves post-hire training outcomes, reduces turnover issues and stimulates long-term economic growth.

Find remarkable people in surprising packages.

There's a world of hidden talent out there, and we're on the mission to help you find it. The platform introduces trainers and employers to pools of individuals who are already pre-screened and matched to their programs or jobs, while also opening new doors to an even wider audience whose potential may have been historically overlooked or unrecognized. Jobtimize® levels the playing field for applicants facing barriers to employment by turning antiquated hiring processes upside down and looking at fit/potential first and résumé second.
